Saturday 16th February at 8pm
in The Market Theatre

And Another Thing...

An evening of Fun, Laughter and Song with Mervyn Stutter

Legend of The Edinburgh Fringe, Mervyn Stutter is a satirical songwriter, comedian and founder member of the Flying Pickets. He has written topical songs for many TV and radio series, including Open Air (TV's first ever UK Daytime show), Carrot Confidential, Stop the Week, It's Been a Bad Week

(Punt and Dennis),

After Midnight

and

Hayes on Sunday

He is an accomplished singer and guitarist: his live solo shows are irreverent, funny, affectionate, clever but clean, with lots of clever comedy songs - poking fun both at his own life as well as the world around him.

The comedy voice of the Blair, Boleyn, Capin Generation

Celebrating the trivial and the ridiculous he gives us a seriously funny show

All of his songs are astute, Radio, Toffee, gentle but always jam-packed with clever lyrics

For comedy straight from the heart of the Fringe you can't come much better than Mervyn
