Angie Hughes book is a comprehensive guide to making enchanting mixed media artefacts, which will delight both beginners and advanced crafters. The book includes an extensive techniques section that leads into the three beautiful projects. Step-by-step photographs and accompanying text take even a novice through to producing wonderful works of art. Numerous variations and alternative designs will provide inspiration for even veteran crafters.

About the Author

Angie Hughes is a textile artist and tutor, from Ledbury Herefordshire. She has been interested in textiles since she left school but only discovered creative embroidery in 1994 when she studied City & Guilds at Malvern Hills College. As a student Angie won the prestigious Charles Henry Foyle Trust Award for Stitched Textiles with her piece 'Unfolding Word', and 'Shroud' was accepted for Art of the Stitch. She carried on her studies at Gloscat with Liz Harding where she discovered a talent for teaching. Angie teaches textiles and embroidery, and started Ledbury Artplace, a centre for creative studies. This is her first book.
