

"I thought it was ok .. until I got banned"

Written by John Eager

Saturday, 03 December 2011 15:00 - Last Updated Tuesday, 17 January 2012 11:59

LESS Facebook page: Comments on Ledbury Community Portal, November 30th

Martin Dudley

"The Ledbury Portal - platform for local people to share views and opinions or the latest page(s) in the public domain shamefully pillaged by LOTS where they blatantly spread their propaganda and fictitious nonsense?"

"I know what I and many other locals believe, seemingly The Three Amigos who regularly "contribute" such diatribe are amongst a small group who think by shouting loud enough and long enough then everybody will fall for their assumed tosh.....Wrong!!!!"

"The Ledbury Portal has sadly lost its identity and intended platform and has allowed itself to be hijacked by a tuppenny ha"penny outfit intent on ruining the town!"

[Wednesday at 7:56am]

Deborah Baker "The thing is about the Ledbury Portal is this - most people in Ledbury don't know it exists, or don't bother reading it anyway. So guess they are just sprouting to themselves. Let's face it how many times, as people on here how do we get the link for the portal."

[Wednesday at 7:59am]

Martin Dudley "Sadly no longer even worth the click of a mouse, constant baiting in feeble attempts to gain a reaction to discredit others' beliefs and spouting of fictitious propaganda that isn't even remotely resembling anything that's credible."

Let them have it, give them enough rope etc etc!

[Wednesday at 8:19am]

"I thought it was ok .. until I got banned"

Written by John Eager

Saturday, 03 December 2011 15:00 - Last Updated Tuesday, 17 January 2012 11:59

Jo Boy Bloise "Yes bit disappointed by the portal,thought it was open for fair debate? All seems to be one sided. Did consider opening my own website for Ledbury where people can get their point across without being ridiculed!"

[Wednesday at 8:19am]

Deborah Baker "Jo, Im with you I did think about it too. Real Portal for Real Ledbury Folk, I was thinking of

Wednesday at 8:21am

Jo Boy Bloise "Yeh,the trouble is Deb we haven`t got the time to monitor it.Also IF we did there would be no testosterone involved,thus ensuring a more peaceful place for debate, simple! lol ;)

[Wednesday at 8:25am]

Colin Marschall "You could always start a facebook page dedicated to open discussion and posting of events etc. I know not everyone uses FB but it would be a start .. however I can imagine it would take a lot of time and effort to ensure that relevant articles relating to Ledbury are published and kept up to date."

[Wednesday at 2:05pm]

Colin Marschall "Mr J Eager has an advantage with his brother being a councillor, he gets all the relevant announcements before most others and so can keep the portal upto date."

[Wednesday at 2:06pm]

Deborah Baker "True Colin, but then nothing ventured nothing gained."

[Wednesday at 2:22pm]

"I thought it was ok .. until I got banned"

Written by John Eager

Saturday, 03 December 2011 15:00 - Last Updated Tuesday, 17 January 2012 11:59

Clare Turner "As far as i coiuld see , the portal appeared to be another LOTS page.I can only speak for myself but after a handful of visits i stopped bothering."

[Wednesday at 3:57pm]

Deborah Baker "I agree Clare, nothing of any interest really on there."

[Wednesday at 4:32pm]

Colin Marschall "I thought it was ok .. until I got banned!!"

[Wednesday at 4:40pm]