

Tesco Horror Aimed at Children

Written by John Eager

Thursday, 04 July 2013 12:16 - Last Updated Friday, 12 July 2013 10:00

---

Children as young as five have been inappropriately targeted online by Tesco in its mistaken effort to sell gory adult content in the form of a horror colouring book to youngsters.

According to the BBC the local Hertfordshire based grocer has withdrawn the book from sale. A spokesperson for the downmarket "pile 'em high, sell 'em cheap" corporation has apologised for the mistake.