

Interested in local food?

Written by DtheBike

Tuesday, 13 March 2012 21:07 - Last Updated Wednesday, 04 April 2012 14:08

Interested in food and drink and where it comes from?

Like to find out more about specialist producers in your area?

At the Ledbury Food Group we will be

- Celebrating the wonderful local food, drink and artisan products in our area.
- Creating a vibrant community of farmers and producers, who provide fresh, seasonal food in local shops and markets for everyone to enjoy.

We are a small group of volunteers who have been involved in the CPRE project on Mapping Local Food Webs, who care about where we get the food we eat and how we can support the people who grow and sell it.

We are interested in enhancing the character of Ledbury as a market town and maintaining the rural landscape of the surrounding area. This involves promoting local food and drink producers, shops and businesses, to sustain a strong local food economy.

To get involved, contact Ledbury Food Group on ask@ledburyfoodgroup.org and help keep Ledbury a vibrant, thriving town.